

Jane Garcia

is a Toronto born artist and sculptor, former commercial designer and creative director, who has been focusing her recent efforts on an evolving, compassionate and hopeful study of human resilience.

Declining to publish her motivations for creating these sculptures, except to say that this series is her "tribute to love", Jane prefers visitors to the gallery to hopefully find meaning and connection with the figures for themselves.

These 30 selected sculptures are part of a larger series entitled "Fallen Angels", many of which have been exhibited across the province, collected by both Canadians and Americans, and received juried recognition in Europe.
